Q: What has been the proudest moment in your company's history?
A: It was being nominated for Supplier of the Year multiple times by Boeing! It validated all the hard work and careful level of detail with all the work we did with Boeing.

Q: How did the company get started?
A: After investing several years in both sales and management as a technology reseller, CEO Jenna Lim believed that she had the necessary ability to recruit and lead a team to represent our business partners in support of our customers.

Q: Why is it important to be considered a small, diverse business or to champion diversity on your team?
A: TRIVAD is a snapshot of America. As an equal opportunity employer, we are fortunate to employ people from various ethnic backgrounds and differing ages all which provide multiple viewpoints from which we make our decisions.

Q: How do you incorporate technology and innovation into your company?
A: As a technology provider, we are typically able to receive an early view of new hardware and software solutions for both our customers and ourselves. This provides TRIVAD the early knowledge of how a specific solution might fit our company's use and also which of our customers may benefit.

Q: What's an interesting fact about the company?
A: Roughly half of the employees have been employed by TRIVAD for ten years or more. That stability is important for TRIVAD and our customer.

Q: Anything else you want to spotlight?
A: TRIVAD supports multiple Boeing sites with both products and professional services and we are proud to have been awarded the Boeing Performance Excellence Award for four consecutive years.
